

Lynne Irwin
Certified Facilitator Creative
Collaboration

Lynne is a certified and accredited Advanced Facilitator, coach and supervisor. She meets people where they are and works with them to build their confidence in themselves and, ultimately, their potential to create and innovate. In short, her job is to enable others to connect their own dots to produce insights.

Lynne knows that creativity shows up in a number of ways. Her process starts with creating safety, then incorporates curiosity, listening, mirroring, drawing and image exploration. Lynne excels at facilitating in the moment, paying close attention to what emerges in a group and adjusting as necessary, whether she is working with 1 person or 150. Her facilitation is grounded in Somatics and Firo, and she believes strongly in the power of individual choice.

Her work has included facilitation and coaching with world-renowned brands, such as adidas, NGA HR, Lebara, Virgin Media and Reuters, as well as with not for profit organisations and communities.

Recently, Lynne designed and co-delivered a Leadership Development programme that aimed to enable strategic thinking rather than task delivery, to deepen client-centricity and to facilitate innovation in thinking and action. Lynne created an immersive programme with blended content, including 360-degree feedback, a skills gym, action learning and live events. The end result, as evidenced by feedback and conversations, included leaders who became more emotionally intelligent, were able to articulate an innovative leadership vision, formed a solid support network and continue to access a range of tools to lead excellence through creative thinking.
